

TWO ROYAL BODIES TO LIE IN STATE

Foreign Courts to Be Represented at Funeral.

LISBON HAS QUIET DAY

Thousands View Remains of the Three Regicides.

Premier Franco Flees—Is Not Included in New Cabinet—Refugee in Paris Believes Peace Will Be Brought About by Selection of New Advisers—Socialists in Other Countries Express No Sympathy.

Lisbon, Feb. 3.—The day passed in complete quiet. Expressions of public mourning are general. Shop blinds are half drawn, flags are half masted, and guns are fired every half hour. The well-to-do universally wear mourning. Business goes on as usual. Popular feeling is dominated by the shadow of the tragedy, and a subdued demeanor is noticeable among the people on the streets, where the assassination continues to be discussed, but calm is everywhere preserved.

The rumors published abroad of impending revolution are entirely unjustified. It is expected that the lying in state of the bodies of the King and crown prince will begin to-morrow, either in the chapel of the Necessidades Palace, or in a room which will be made a Chapelle Ardente.

Bodies in Glass Case.

The bodies, which have been embalmed, have been placed in glass cases with glass lids, which Queen Amelia and ex-Queen Maria Pia continually visit.

King Carlos is attired in the uniform of a generalissimo, while the crown prince is attired in the uniform of a captain of lancers. Many masses have been said in the mortuary chamber.

The funeral will be held on February 8 or February 10. It is stated that the Prince of Wales, Prince Henry of Prussia, and the Duke of Austria will be among the foreign representatives.

The bodies of three of the regicides, much mutilated, are lying in the town hall. Thousands of persons have viewed them.

It is reported that some of the police who were on duty near the scene of the tragedy have been arrested on suspicion that they connived in allowing the regicides to carry arms and to get near the royal carriage.

Premier Leaves Lisbon.

Madrid, Feb. 3.—A dispatch from Lisbon says it is reported that Premier Franco has left Lisbon. Some say he has fled, fearing he would be murdered if he remained.

According to a Badajoz dispatch, there was severe firing last night in the western quarter of Lisbon, where the artillery and infantry barracks are situated. It is reported that many Republicans were arrested to-day, the arrests being accompanied by firing on the streets.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The version current here of Senor Franco's non-inclusion in the new Portuguese cabinet is that his resignation was decided upon at a private council prior to the meeting of the council of state yesterday evening.

SEARCH FOR GOLD ABANDONED

Queens Amelia dominated the discussion. The construction of the cabinet has been completed, as follows:

President of the council, Admiral Ferreira do Amaral; minister of war, Mathias Nunes; minister of justice, Compo Henriques; minister of finance, Senor Moreira; minister of the interior, Senor Veiga Belrao; minister of foreign affairs, Venecia de Lima; minister of public works, Senor Bertandino; minister of marine, Senor Castilho.

Chastity Peace Assured.

Senor Lima, one of the leading Portuguese Republicans who is in refuge here, says that the fall of Senor Franco will insure peace in Portugal.

All the members of the new cabinet are opposed to him. Admiral Ferriar, the new prime minister, is very popular. From statements made by the secret police and Portuguese refugees here, it seems that something was known here of the assassination plot. The Spaniard, Cordova, who is reported to have been one of the assassins, has an international reputation as a dangerous anarchist, and he is well known to the Paris police.

Alfonso Agitated.

London, Feb. 3.—The Seville correspondent of the Daily Mail describes King Alfonso's reception of the news of the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz. The King was discussing the day's sport with members of his party at Laucha at 10 o'clock at night, when his attention was attracted by the agitation and hurried exclamations of a telegraph operator, who was receiving a message in an adjoining room.

Sympathizers with Republicans.

Paris, Feb. 3.—While Foreign Minister Pichon was expressing to-day the chamber's sympathy with united Portugal, the Socialists noisily interrupted. Marcel Sembat interjecting that the assassinations were due to the dictatorship, and Adrien Meslier saying that King Carlos was the victim of a labor accident.

The United Socialists wished to introduce a motion expressing the chamber's sympathy with their fellow-republicans, and hoping for the establishment of a Portuguese republic. The president of the chamber would not entertain the motion.

German Socialists Leave Chamber.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—Count von Stollenberg-Wernegerode, the president of the Reichstag, addressed the House to-day, expressing indignation at the assassination of the King and crown prince of Portugal. Several members at once arose in token of sympathy with the president's remarks, but the Social Democratic deputies did not. They left till the address was ended.

GRAND BALL FOR OFFICERS.

American Consular Agent Entertains at His Palatial Home.

Punta Arenas, Feb. 3.—A grand ball, in honor of the officers of the American fleet, and also of officers of the British cruiser Sappho, and the Chilean cruiser Chacabuco, was given to-night by Mr. Braun, the American consular agent, at his palatial home.

The affair was a great success. It was attended by the rich residents of the city, and also by a number of residents of Buenos Ayres, who have come to Punta Arenas to spend the summer, it now being that season of the year in this latitude.

The American war ships are filling their coal bunkers with the utmost dispatch from the supply brought here by the colliers.

CHARTERED IN WEST VIRGINIA

American District Telegraph Company's Offices in Washington.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 3.—Secretary of State Swisher, of West Virginia, issued a charter to the American District Telegraph Company yesterday, and the concern will have its business offices in Washington, with an authorized capital stock of $10,000, of which $2,000 has been subscribed, and $200 paid in.

The incorporators are Robert C. Clowery, George H. Fearsom, Velvinder Brooks, John C. Barclay, C. F. Patterson, and J. P. Althager, all of New York city.

HARRIMAN AFTER TAFT.

Accused of Using Machine to Name California Delegates.

Under the cloak of a movement ostensibly favorable to the Federal administration, the Republican machine in California, which is alleged to be dominated by Southern Pacific influences, or more properly speaking, Edward H. Harriman, of New York, is making an effort to send a delegation to Chicago hostile to the nomination of William H. Taft.

This is the substance of information just received here by friends of the Secretary of War. It is significant as indicating that Mr. Harriman, through William F. Herrin, chief counsel of the Southern Pacific, has not ceased to be a factor in the politics of California.

Americans Fail to Recover Treasure Lost Off Mexican Coast.

Bullion Worth $900,000 Is Still in Hold of Sunk Vessel, the Golden Gate.

Mexico City, Mex., Feb. 3.—The party of Americans who sought to remove from the hold of the sunken vessel Golden Gate the $900,000 in gold which is said to be hidden there, have given up the attempt and departed for their homes in the United States.

This vessel was sunk in a storm off the Mexican coast near the port of Manzanillo on July 24, 1864, while on its way to New York from San Francisco. It carried $1,900,000 of gold. Eight hundred thousand dollars was recovered a few months after the vessel sunk, but before the remainder could be brought to the surface the hold filled with sand.

The concession for recovering this treasure was obtained a few years ago from the Mexican government. It is held by J. E. Phillips, of Denver, Colo.; Capt. C. R. Johnston, of Wilmington, Del.; R. F. Phillips, of Philadelphia, and S. F. Phillips, of Danville, Ill.

These men were making preparations to pump the sand from the hold of the vessel about a year ago, when a storm swept their machinery away. This latest attempt has just been abandoned because the pumping machinery was found inadequate. It is stated that another attempt will be made as soon as new pumps can be obtained.

MITCHELL SUPPORTS LEWIS.

New Head of Miners Declares He Is Not Too Radical.

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Tom L. Lewis, the anti-administration candidate for president of the United Mine Workers of America, was declared elected to-day, but by a vote very lower than had been expected by his supporters. The vote as announced by the convention by the tellers showed that Lewis had received 64,521-2 votes, and William B. Wilson, the administration, or Mitchell candidate, 62,472, being a majority for Lewis of 2,049-2 votes.

The announcement of Lewis' election was received with loud demonstrations of approval and in the presence of the delegates Mitchell and other national officers pledged him their support. In his speech Lewis admitted that his election had excited fear in some places because of his supposed radicalism and said:

"I desire to set at rest any fears that may exist. I desire to say to the American people that I am a radical I hope to be always so, for I will stand and defend the just rights of those whom I have the honor to represent. I hope to be so conservative that we may be able to decide when to accept the things that we believe justly ours as laboring men of the country."

RIDES ON THE PILOT

Soldier Makes Perilous Trip to Baltimore.

ALMOST FROZEN TO DEATH

Hashing Along at Sixty Miles an Hour on Engine's Cowcatcher, Private O'Connor Loses Consciousness—icy Wind and Freezing Temperature Almost End His Career.

Baltimore, Feb. 3.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock last night, while most people were soundly sleeping beneath extra blankets, James O'Connor, a private in the Twenty-sixth Coast Artillery, was flying through space at the rate of sixty miles an hour, perched upon the cowcatcher of the engine which drew the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's midnight express into Camden Station at 12:40 o'clock this morning.

At the time mentioned the mercury in the official thermometer at the Weather Bureau registered 15 degrees. In many places the ground was covered with snow and ice, and the air was biting cold.

At the University Hospital, to which he was taken after he had been brought back to life by the policemen and railroad officials who rescued him from his perch, when the train reached Camden station, O'Connor this morning told his story. His experience, according to his own statements, was thrilling, so much so that he is not likely to forget it.

Decides to Go Visiting.

About 11 o'clock last night, he felt reckless, and was, apparently, in that frame of mind when he didn't care whether school kept or not.

Having business to attend to in Baltimore, O'Connor decided that he would come over and look after his affairs. When he reached Union Station at Washington the soldier discovered that he lacked the price of transportation. When, therefore, the train pulled out he swung up on the pilot, and, wedging himself in between the braces which hold the cow-catcher in place, he settled down for his ride.

"I hadn't been there very long," said O'Connor, "until I was cold all over. In a little while I was so cold that I lost consciousness, and I knew nothing more until I waked up with a lot of policemen standing over me. How I ever managed to hold on to my place I can't imagine. It was just luck, nothing else."

Saved by Operator.

O'Connor, who is only twenty years old, good looking, and intelligent, owes his life no doubt to the telegraph operator at Laurel, who saw him as the express passed that station. At that time the soldier was unconscious, and the operator, seeing the apparently lifeless form as the train passed through the reflected rays of a station lamp, telegraphed to Camden Station that a dead man was on the pilot of the engine.

New York, Feb. 3.—Smitten by the good looks of an American girl, so it was disclosed to-day on good authority, the Duke of the Abruzzi, who was in this country several months ago with the Italian fleet, will return shortly to arrange for his marriage with Miss Katherine Elkins, daughter of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, and granddaughter of Henry Gasaway Davis. He will come here incognito.

MISS ELLIOTT AS "SALOME."

Actress Startles Baltimore Audience by Scene in Her New Play.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 3.—Miss Maxine Elliott as "Salome" was the startling impersonation that greeted the Baltimoreans who went to the Academy of Music to-night to see the first production of "Myself-Bettina," by Miss Rachel Crothers.

Miss Crothers has introduced a scene in the second act in which Miss Elliott figures so conspicuously that it will cause much comment and draw more attention to the star than did her famous bathing suit worn in "Under the Green Wood Tree," which play Miss Elliott has discarded for "Myself-Bettina."

The scene represents the rehearsal of a part of an act from "Salome." Through-out the rehearsal music from Strauss' opera of the same name is played on the piano, and at the proper time Miss Elliott executes some of the movements from the "Dance of the Seven Veils" gorgeously gowned in a costume of yellow satin garnished with brilliant spangles of gold. The dance was introduced to picture life behind the footlights in gay Paris.

BECKHAM READY TO QUIT.

Within a Week He May Permit Another Democrat to Be Chosen.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 3.—"I will not stand in the way of an election," said former Gov. J. C. W. Beckham to Hon. W. J. Bryan as the train pulled out from the depot at Frankfort the other day, when Bryan had come to Kentucky to try and break the Senatorial deadlock. Mr. Bryan engaged the young Kentucky politician for several minutes in earnest conversation on the rear end of the Kentucky Midland Railroad train, and as the train started, Gov. Beckham made the above quoted promise.

The last of this week or the first of the next, the tip goes out from here to-night, Gov. Beckham is to withdraw from the contest and allow some other Democrat to be named as Senator to succeed James B. McCreary.

NAVY YARD DEPLETED.

Eight Hundred Men Have Been or Will Be Dropped.

At the navy yard 800 of the 1,800 machinists usually employed there have been or are to be dismissed. About 600 men have been discharged so far.

Three hundred men were dropped from the navy yard on January 25, and 167 went out on February 1. It is said 300 men will have to leave in the next few days.

Seventy-five men were dismissed at 4 o'clock yesterday, and seventy-five more were given their walking papers last night, making 150 men gone in one day. The only reason advanced by the commandant of the navy yard is that the navy yard is short of funds at present, and there seems to be no hope of replenishing now the government's appropriation for this station.

The departure of the fleet for the Pacific left fewer ships in the navy yard than usual. There is, however, always some work to keep the regular force busy at all times.

In the gun factory the ax has fallen hardest. There are few men left at work there.

Naval authorities say the Washington Navy Yard has been especially unfortunate in its contracts for work, and has failed to secure its usual quota of business sufficient to keep its force at work.

The standard of work is good, and the force was especially efficient. Other navy yards have just about enough to occupy their men, and no more. Cramps shipyard, in Philadelphia, discharged almost a thousand men last week.

The wholesale discharge indicates that the Japanese war scare is over. The government has dropped far below the normal peace production of arms and ammunition.

Judge Now Satisfied What Workhouse Really Means.

ADHERES TO EVERY DETAIL

Golden Rule Judge of Toledo Realizes that Workhouse Sentence Is Not to Be Sneered At—Comes Out with Backache and Chilled Bones After Experience at Cutting Ice.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 3.—Weary, and sore, and hungry, Judge James Austin, Jr., the Golden Rule judge, emerged from the workhouse this evening a sadder but a wiser man, literally speaking. With a thoughtful air he slowly said "Yes," when asked if he would ever send another man to the workhouse; then he continued: "But it was as hard a day's work as I ever spent, and I want to say that a workhouse sentence is not to be sneered at."

"I don't know how it is going to effect my dispensing of justice, but I want to say that I am mighty glad that I have had the experience myself. I'll say something later as to my views on the subject of workhouses in general. My, but my back does ache, and I'm chilled to the bone from cutting ice."

Four Are Sentenced.

Judge Austin committed himself, Prosecutor Frank Dwyer, and Matron Ida Hilley, with two reporters, to the workhouse in keeping with his statement a week ago, to the effect that he intended to see personally just what a day in the workhouse meant. Every detail of police court was adhered to by the judge. An affidavit was sworn out before the police court clerk, Louis Kreiger, charging the police judge, prosecutor, and the others with disturbance.

Each of the "prisoners" entered a plea of guilty before Police Judge Austin, who sentenced them to four hours in the workhouse. Judge Austin then made the same entrance against Citizen James Austin, Jr., Deputy Clerk Price made out the commitment papers, which were sent down to Lieut. James Smith. While Smith was making the necessary entries on the police court blotter the "prisoners" were ordered sent to the workhouse in the patrol wagon.

Taken in Patrol Wagon.

Patrolmen Walter, Streeter, and Langhoff bundled the party into the patrol wagon shortly after 11 o'clock, after handcuffing the men. They were shown no favors, and were given the same treatment as any other prisoner who appears in court and is given a workhouse sentence.

The wagon reached the workhouse in time for dinner. Assistant Superintendent John Doelker received the prisoners. They were docketed and a description taken. They were then sent to the dining room, where they ate the regular prison dinner of vegetable soup, meat, and baked vegetables.

After dinner the prisoners were compelled to take off their citizens' clothes and don the prison uniform of Kentucky jeans trousers, hickory shirt, gray coat and government shoes. They were locked up in their cells for thirty minutes while the guards ate their dinner. The men of the party were then ordered out to assist in cutting ice.

NEW PHASE IN GRAFT CASE.

"Per Foot" Basis Is Not the Same as in Earlier Contracts.

Harrisburg, Feb. 3.—The prosecution in the capital trials to-day developed an important and entirely new phase of its case. It showed that as far back as 1898, defendant, John H. Sanderson, sold furniture to the Commonwealth on a "per foot" basis, charging only linear feet.

In direct comparison with this it presented evidence that under "per foot" schedule, worked in exactly similar terms, Sanderson charged surface measurement and, in some instances, cubic measurement on furniture placed in the new capitol.

It was evident to-day, from the number of exceptions asked for by Sanderson's attorney, Mr. Rothelme, that the defense is paying the way to ask for a new trial in event of an adverse verdict.

FLAG NOT CHESAPEAKE'S?

Salem People Claim It Was Draped Over Lawrence's Body.

Boston, Feb. 3.—Doubts as to the authenticity of the American flag recently purchased in London and purporting to be the flag of Capt. James Lawrence's ship the Chesapeake, are entertained by Salem people, who are familiar with the doings of Capt. Lawrence.

Many ancestors of Salem people took part in the removal of Capt. Lawrence's body from Halifax to Salem and attended the reburial in Trinity Church graveyard, New York, where two flags, both claimed to be those of the Chesapeake, were draped over the body.

Salem people are now making an earnest inquiry into the status of the London flag in conjunction with the New Jersey Historical Society.

BOMB IN A TENEMENT.

Fully 300 Italians Alarmed, and One Woman Injured.

New York, Feb. 3.—Just after midnight this morning some one climbed up the high stoop of the tenement house at 419 East Twelfth street, occupied almost entirely by Italian families, and planted a bomb in the vestibule.

The bomb went off with great force. Frank Spatalo occupies the west apartment with his family of twelve. The only person hurt there was his sister Rosa, who was badly cut about the face.

The others were fairly blown out of their beds by the concussion.

A total of some 300 people live in the building, and men, women, and children rushed and tumbled down the stairs and piled out the doors to the street in a state of frenzy.

TWO MEN ATTACK WOMAN.

Posse Is Searching for Assaultants at Newbern, N. C.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 3.—A special dispatch from Newbern, N. C., gives particulars of an outrage perpetrated there early this morning. The town is greatly excited over the affair.

Two white men called at the residence of S. I. Buck. After asking Mrs. Buck if they could secure lodging, and being told that she was not conducting a boarding-house, the men asked if her husband was in. Unguardedly, Mrs. Buck told them no, whereupon they grabbed her and dragged her into a room, where they cruelly attacked her.

FEARS MARRIAGE IS ILLEGAL

Virginia Girl Looking for Record of Her Wedding.

This one contract, he testified, was made and carried out before The Audit System was incorporated, and cost the Pratt Company $5,000. It took one year to do this work for the J. W. Pratt Company, which employed at that time about 100 men. Afterward Mr. Alfred and Mr. Handy, who, it seemed, together with a man named Halsey, composed the J. W. Pratt Company, decided that they had better take Mr. Raynor, who then was The Audit Company, in with them. This was done, and the three men formed The Audit System with a capital stock of $50,000, which they later increased to $200,000.

Only One Contract.

The various men who have appeared and will appear seem to be classed about this way:

Frederick Alfred, secretary and manager of the J. W. Pratt Company, which has offices at 32 Duane street, also incorporator and president of The Audit System and stockholder in its auxiliary company, The Audit System Supplies Company.

J. F. Handy, president of the Suffolk Distributing Company, president and treasurer of the J. W. Pratt Company, and secretary and treasurer of The Audit System, interested also in The Audit System Supplies Company.

W. M. Raynor, vice president of The Audit System, and interested in The Audit System Supplies Company, also at present in charge of the "cost" work at the Government Printing Office.

"Occasionally" an Agent.

W. A. Root, "occasionally" an agent for the Suffolk Distributing Company, agent for The Audit System, The Audit System Supplies Company, the Pika Adding Machine Company, and, perhaps, others that were not mentioned yesterday.

Neither Mr. Handy, who had not reached Washington in time for the hearing, nor Mr. Raynor, who was present, were called to testify yesterday. Both, it is expected, will go upon the stand to-day.

AUDIT MEN ADMIT
INTEREST IN G. P. O.

Conditions Resemble Those in Post-office.

TESTIMONY AT HEARING

System and Supplies Concern Closely Related.

Frederick Alfred, on Stand, Says J. F. Handy Is Secretary of Audit System and President of Suffolk Distributing Company—"System" Has Had but One Contract Previous to One at the G. P. O.

Conditions in the Government Printing Office are closely akin to those discovered in the Post-office Department a few years ago, which resulted in criminal prosecutions and convictions.

The Audit System, which is in the employ of the government, at a cost of $50,000 a year, to install a system—though it never before systematized the business of any big institution—has been forced to admit its interest in contracts for Printing Office supplies. Indeed, before the Congressional committee yesterday, the admission was frankly made that The Audit System Supplies Company was formed for the purpose of getting contracts for such supplies. The Suffolk Distributing Company, in which some of the same men seem to be interested—one was shown to be so—has secured contracts, through W. A. Root, agent of The Audit System, and its bids on contracts for $150,000 of white paper are now held up.

Public Printer Stillings saw nothing improper in all this, being clearly ignorant of the statutes covering such cases.

Meanwhile a report made to the President by Expert Havenner shows that, under the Stillings regime, the cost of printing has increased enormously. Instead of being administered economically, the Government Printing Office is to-day operated more extravagantly, considering the amount of work done, than ever before in its history.

Finding of Committee.

By the evidence of Frederick Alfred, of Brooklyn, the joint committee on Printing yesterday found conclusively that The Audit System, of which Mr. Alfred said he is not only an incorporator, but also an officer, and the Suffolk Distributing Company, while not the same corporation, or directly allied, are still connected through the person of an officer.

According to the testimony of Mr. Alfred, given under oath
